PRESIDENT'S CORNER

WILL GODOWNS
MGCA PRESIDENT

January Looking Ahead with Gratitude

As we settle in after the Christmas season, I hope each of you had a Merry Christmas and were able to spend meaningful time with family and loved ones. Christmas at the Godowns home was a little sweeter this year with a one-year-old, and it's been a joyful reminder of the blessings God gives us in every season of life. As we step into a new year, my hope is that we all strive to celebrate the birth of our Savior all year long, not just during the Christmas season.

We had a wonderful crowd at Ladies' Night in November, and it was truly a night to remember. A special thank you to everyone who participated in the auction to benefit the Mid-Georgia CattleWomen's Association. Those funds go directly toward beef promotion and educational programs in our counties, and your support makes that work possible. We were also excited to welcome several new directors as they begin their three-year terms, and we look forward to their leadership and involvement. Congratulations as well to all of our award recipients! It was a privilege to recognize the hard work MGCA producers put in year-round.

Looking ahead, I am excited for MGCA to host the 81st West Central Georgia Steer and Heifer Show on January

24th at the Upson Lee Ag Center. If you don't already have plans, I encourage you to come out and support the show and our Mid-Georgia exhibitors. These young people invest an incredible amount of time, effort, and resources into their projects, and it is always impressive, and encouraging, to watch them in the ring.

As we prepare for our upcoming membership meeting, we are thankful to Green Gate Farm for inviting us back to their operation. It's always a special treat to meet on a fellow cattleman's farm. I'd also like to thank the Spalding County directors for their hard work securing sponsors for the meal and what I know will be a great educational program.

As we begin a new year, I look forward to continued involvement, fellowship, and support from MGCA members across all six of our counties. Together, we can keep strengthening our association, supporting one another, and promoting an industry we're proud to be a part of. I'm excited to see what this year holds for MGCA and grateful to walk into it alongside each of you.

Wow, November and December sure did go by quickly with many activities taking place. First, I hope you, your family and friends had a wonderful time together for Thanksgiving and Christmas. There were several members getting together to sell ribeye steak sandwiches at the "Harvest Fest on the Farm" at Rainbow Farm. Thanks, Allie and Luke for inviting us to participate. Beverly Harden and I visited with PK - 2nd grade students at the Crawford County Farm Day. We discussed "Where does your hamburger Come From?", Beef Nutrition, and Beef By-Products. Hailey Partain and the Georgia Beef Board exhibited at the Meriwether Farm Day. On November 8th, the cattlemen served breakfast and lunch at the T-Town Fall Classic. This was a great way to support our cattle exhibitors.

Once again, we want to thank Kylee Campbell for serving as our 2025 queen. We look forward to Emily Savage serving as our 2026 Queen. She has already started assisting with events.

The Mid-Georgia CattleWomen sponsored a child in Lamar County for Christmas. This is one way we give back to our community. On December 15th, the cattlemen hosted a "Beef Up your Party" class for the Pike County 4-H Homeschoolers and their parents. In February, the Upson County 4-Hers will celebrate Valentines with the "I Heart Beef" cooking class. If you would like to help on February 10th from 3:30-5:00pm, let me know.

The West Central Georgia Show will be held on January 24th at the Upson-Lee Agriculture Center in Thomaston. Our association will serve breakfast and lunch. The show starts at 10:00. If you would like to donate food or help with this event, please let me know.

The ladies at the September meeting suggested we have a fun event. It will be held in March at the Bunkhouse at Walters Farm. More information will be listed on the website and at the meeting in January.

Disaster Assistance for 2025 Livestock Forage Losses

Producers in Pike, Spalding, Henry, and Fayette County are eligible to apply for 2025 Livestock Forage Disaster Program (LFP) benefits on improved pasture and improved mixed pasture.

LFP provides compensation if you suffer grazing losses for covered livestock due to drought on privately owned or cash leased land or fire on federally managed land.

County committees can only accept LFP applications after notification is received by the National Office of qualifying drought or if a federal agency prohibits producers from grazing normal permitted livestock on federally managed lands due to qualifying fire.

You must complete a CCC-853 and the required supporting documentation no later than March 2, 2026, for 2025 losses.

For additional information about LFP, including eligible livestock and fire criteria, contact the Lamar-Henry County USDA Service Center at 770-358-0787 ext. 2 or visit fsa.usda.gov.

Nutritional Considerations Going Into Calving

Lawton Stewart and Uttam Saha

This year has proved to be quite an interesting one. Many parts of the state have seen periods with above-average amounts of rain, but also periods of well below-average amounts. Most producers were able to put up plenty of hay. However, based on the samples submitted to the UGA Feed and Environmental Water Laboratory, there is quite a range in forage quality. For producers with late winter/spring calving season, this could cause potential issues. Combining this with a few other observations, here are a few situations we are seeing, and the potential ramifications.

1. I will restrict feed in the last trimester to decrease calf birth weights.
2. I need more protein to go with my hay
3. There is a tendency to underestimate crude protein and overestimate energy.

I will restrict feed in the last trimester to decrease calf birth weights. Is this correct? Absolutely! The problem is that birth weight is not the only thing it will affect. Recent research has focused on fetal programming. Fetal programming is the concept that maternal stimuli or insults during fetal development have long-term effects on the offspring. One of the most critical aspects of fetal programming involves the adequate nutrition, or lack thereof, of the dam. Research has shown minimal impact on calf birth weights; however, the restricted nutrition during the last trimester decreased weaning weights, finishing weights, and hot carcass weights. Additionally, research from Nebraska indicated that heifers from nutritionally restricted cows reached puberty 14 days later than those with proper nutrition.

I need more protein to go with my hay. Is this correct? Possibly, however, protein is only half of the equation. From April 1 to October 1 of this year, 773 bermudagrass hay samples were submitted to the UGA lab. The mean crude protein and energy (TDN) value was 11.1% and 55.7%, respectively. As cows are entering the final trimester, their CP requirement is exceeded by the average bermudagrass sample, but the energy requirement falls short. More importantly, as they calve, enter peak lactation, and the breeding season, the CP requirement is met, but the TDN falls tremendously short.

There is a tendency to underestimate crude protein and overestimate energy. The cheapest money you will ever spend in a beef cattle operation is a forage test, guaranteed!!! A great illustration of this happened recently during the UGA Master Cattlemen's Program. As part of the program, a free forage test was offered to participants along with a survey to estimate what producers thought the quality of the hay was (prior to testing). This allowed for a comparison of what producers thought they had versus what they actually had. This survey resulted in 83% of producer underestimating the protein of their hay compared to the actual. This would result in purchasing a protein supplement when not needed. For energy, 50% overestimated energy. This would result in depriving needed energy during late gestation and early lactation. In addition to the previously discussed fetal programming issues, this could also cause delayed breeding. An actual example of overestimation of energy is illustrated in Figure 2. The overestimation could likely result in breeding being delayed 42 days. The resulting loss in weaning weight could easily reach 80 lb, resulting in an approximate $280 decrease in value per calf. Through forage testing, the producer would know to feed 4 lb/d of a supplement such as corn gluten feed. Based on a 25-cow herd, this could easily return $6,325 above cost. That is a no-brainer!

Example of over-estimation energy for 25 cows:

- Estimated TDN: 60% ACTUAL TDN: 55.5%
DIFFERENCE: 4.5%
- No feed - cows lose condition, slip 2 cycles
- Calf is 80lb. lighter than contemporaries/expected WW
- At $3.50/lb, $-280/calf

IF ONLY I'D KNOWN

- $25 for forage test ($1/cow)
- 4 lb/d of Corn Gluten for 60 days ($215/ton)=$26/cow TOTAL
- $27 (forage test + feed) investment/cow returns $253/cow
- X 25 cows = $6,325 return on investment!!!

Brood cow nutrition is a crucial part of a beef cattle operation. Between fetal programming and maintaining the proper calving interval, it is imperative for producers to pay close attention to the nutrients available in their forages, and if they meet the requirements of their herd. If you have any questions on nutrition, hay testing, or developing winter feeding strategies, contact your local Cooperative Extension office (extension.uga.edu, or 1-800-ASK-UGA-1).

RECIPE CORNER

Beef Enchilada Soup

Ingredients:

- 2 pounds Ground Beef (93% lean or leaner)
- 1/4 cup Taco Seasoning Mix or 2 packets
(1 ounce each) taco seasoning mix
- 2 cans (14-1/2 ounces each) reduced-sodium beef broth
- 1 can (28 ounces) crushed tomatoes
- 1 can (19 ounces) mild enchilada sauce
- 1 can (15 ounces) black beans, drained and rinsed
- 1 can (15 ounces) kidney beans, drained and rinsed
- 1 can (15 ounces) sweet corn, drained
- 1 can (4 ounces) diced green chilies
- 8 sliced flour tortillas (1/4-inch strips)

Toppings:

Shredded cheese, sliced avocado, sour cream, taco seasoning (optional)

Cooking:

1. Heat large nonstick skillet over medium heat until hot. Add Ground Beef; cook 12 to 15 minutes, breaking into 1/2-inch crumbles and stirring occasionally.

Cook's Tip: Cooking times are for fresh or thoroughly thawed ground beef. Ground beef should be cooked to an internal temperature of 160°F. Color is not a reliable indicator of ground beef doneness.

2. Transfer beef into 4-1/2 to 5-1/2-quart slow cooker; add all other ingredients. Cover and cook on HIGH 2 hours or LOW 4 hours until flavors are blended. Top soup with tortillas, cheese, avocado, sour cream and taco seasoning, as desired.

Alternate Cooking Method:

1. This recipe can be made in 5-quart stockpot on the stovetop. Heat stockpot over medium heat until hot. Add Ground Beef; cook 12 to 15 minutes, breaking into 1/2-inch crumbles, stirring occasionally. Add all other ingredients. Reduce heat to simmer; cook 20 to 25 minutes, stirring occasionally. Top with tortilla strips; sprinkle with cheese, avocado, sour cream and taco seasoning, as desired.
